
EnviWiki

The online educational platform EnviWiki serves as a dedicated digital tool for environmental education and sustainable development at universities. The platform enables the creation, publication, and sharing of peer-reviewed scientific texts, while providing methodological support for contributors. The content of the database is usable across the educational spectrum.

EnviWiki operates on the principle of an open educational platform where users can actively participate in the expansion of its knowledge base.

The platform is continuously updated especially by the Charles University Environment centre .