Repository of Ideas and Initiatives

The current form of the repository mainly consists of suggestions and ideas that emerged from the development and expert consultation of strategic materials and the feedback process across the university, including the recent Round Table discussion.

Ideas and suggestions in the repository:

- A website featuring information on sustainable development and research at Charles University, as well as student projects that have received awards.
- Implementing a mechanism for collecting suggestions on sustainable development (take a photo and send it).
- Identification of problematic overlaps (e.g. hybrid teaching, internationalization, etc.)
- Initiating the establishment of a formally registered student association with a strong interest in sustainable development across faculties, initially serving as a communication link to students.
- Monitoring the increasing rate of separated waste.
- Implementing a (unified) system for handling used toner cartridges and waste toner containers from larger printers. Currently, each printer manager appears to be addressing this issue individually, and often not very sustainably.
- A survey could be conducted to determine the extent to which Charles University´s buildings are included in the shared systems for bikes, e-bikes, and e-car sharing in Prague.
- Option to conduct a fleet audit and provide recommendations for the future. Transparency—maintain records, and possibly even publish, information on who travels, when, where, and by what means.
- Establishing cooperation with local farmers and sustainable, responsible producers (meat, dairy, and eggs).

For questions, suggestions, or ideas relating to sustainable development at the university, please contact sustain@ruk.cuni.cz **.
?Have you written an interesting article relating to sustainability?
?Did you present at a conference where groundbreaking information on sustainable development was shared?
?Are you working on a project addressing sustainability issues?
?Would you like to share your experiences with us?

Contact us and we'll work with you to showcase your work and relevant activities.